A GOADED GOAT.—It is a singular b incontrovertain lact that and considerate incoming disposed youths experience a peculiar delight in teasing that eccentric species of the animal kingdom, the goat. The kind of a boy that plays hook from school would rather prod a goat with a sharp stick than be presented with a deadhead ticket to a base-ball match, and it should be a support to the standard beautiful to the stand head texes to a base-basi match, and readfords him more satisfaction than throwing clods of mud at a drunken man. Yesterday a party of this description of boy began operations on a Centre Wheeling goat at 8 o'clock in the moraing. He is a well disposed and peaceable goat generally, but after they had poked, pelted and prodded him for four hours, patience ceased to be a virtue, and he became exasperated and spraned around and stood on his hind legs and looked as if he wanted to boost somebody.

This was a highly interesting and ludicrous state of things to an elderly and robust lady who was standing in the doorway of a store, and alse laughed and enjoyed herself as much as it she had been at the Centennial.

About the time things were getting unbarably warm for the animals man bearably warm for the animals man affords him more satisfaction than throw bearably warm for the animal a ma jumped out of a buggy, and, in order to have his share of the fun, cracked th have his share of the line, cracked life goat over the hisdquarters with his whip. This put the climax to the whole business, and goaded the goat to madness. The elderly lady laughed again and turn-ed to go into the store, but the goat saw and siezed his opportunity. Fracing himself he rushed at the lady and struck and sletced in sopportunity. In actual himself he rushed at the lady and attuck her with the force of a battering ram. She was boosted clean off her feet and came down with a shock that shook the premises. She didn't say anything, and she didn't laugh, but the noise brought the old man out. He had a broomstick and he engaged in combat with the goat that was straddling around on his hind legs exécuting a species of war dance. The old man was mad, and he banged the goat so vigorously about the head that that frenzied animal tacked off across the street and upset another lady, who was interested in the proceedings, much to the delight and satisfaction of the multitude. Then he was captured and kicked awhile and placed in captivity, and everybody except the two ladies, the man with the broomstick and the goat thought it was the most enjoyable matinee they had ever witnessed.

THE LATE CAPT. STEVE SPRAGUE.— The Cumberland News gives the following additional particulars of the death of Capt. Steve Sprague, who was interrechere on Sunday last:

"Yesterday morning he complained of feeling unwell and another conductor was sent out with his train, although his in disposition was not considered serious. He spent the day as usual, and at about hall-past six o'clock in the alternoon walked down Decatur street with his little daughter, wheth he suddenly fell to the sidewalk, striking his head and cutting the flesh somewhat. He was removed to his residence, and a physician summoned, but it was found that he was beyond the reach of medical skill. THE CITT'S HEALTH .- The protracted THE CITY'S HEALTH.—The protracted heated term is beginning to tell on the health of our city, and unless a change soon takes place we may look out for an unusually unhealthy season. The greatest care should be observed by all, and the Health Officer should at once see to it that the city is placed in the best sanitary condition. The heat is almost intolerable —mercury up to nearly one hundred in the shade. It is probable that this excessive temperature will be followed by a storm heavily charged with electricity, and it may come at any mament. The streets, alleys and guiters should be thoroughly cleaned at once.

HAMDSONE decorations still remain to some extent on the important thorough-faires of the city, though the wind and rain have played havoc with them and taken off their freshness.

Ir appears that Gen. Paddy Mahoney, remembering that cleanliness is next to Godliness, on Sunday last took the city prisoners to "Berry's Hole," up the creek, for a bath. This is a very grievous offence and should be properly and promptly punished. Since the incorporation of the city, a dirty prisoner has been held as sacred as a Chinese pig tail, and soap and water have been torholden fruit. There was some talk of having a warrant issued for Mahoney.
